

Stetson's Review: Dusty Races, Lots of Fun!

Living up to its name "Rust'N Dust", the Hot Rod and motorbike race sponsored by Stetson in Teterow (Germany) was a fascinating spectacle. It was a great pleasure to experience this festival, as we never saw something suchlike before! Thanks to the Stetson Hot Rod team (Psssst, we'll not reveal too much about that now, a report will follow!), we were introduced into the scene in a very friendly way. About 70 starters participated in the constancy race, trying their best to drive two tours in an equal time. The mountainous circle (see photo) was quite a challenge for some of the cars, but everybody mastered the route. The atmosphere was fabulous! All kinds of fantastic looking Motorbikes, Hot Rods and custom cars were all over the place. A lot of car loving people in a great mood, exchanging their experience and tips.

A highlight: Stetson hats and caps were visible everywhere, reflecting the authentic styling of the Hot Rodders.

After the race and the award ceremony, a final tour was initiated spontaneously, raising an enormous amount of dust that left everybody in the first row completely brown! Then, an amazing evening with nice Rockabilly and Rock'N'Roll music started and everybody celebrated until the early morning hours. It was a cool weekend, thanks everybody!

Further, also the Roadrunner's Paradise race was a big success: 8,000 visitors and more than 200 participants in the race had a nice time, enjoying the ambiance, cars, international bands and the starter girl contest!
